

DISCOUNT ON SILVER.

The Silver State pertinently remarks: It appears that the California banks are taking as decided a stand against silver as those of New York and Boston. In Sacramento they have a discount of one-fourth of one per cent. upon all silver which they receive. They argue that silver accumulates so fast in their vaults that they have to ship the surplus frequently to other places and the discount is to cover the expense of such shipments. Congress ought to prevent by legislation national banks from discounting money which it has made a legal tender, for the purpose of making it expensive for the people to use it instead of bank notes. There is no good reason why banks should be permitted to regulate the finances of the country and, by concerted action, nullify the laws of Congress.

A Bad Year for the Great

The necrology of the year will bear such names as General Grant, Cardinal McCloskey, General McClellan, John McCullough, W. H. Vanderbilt, and Vice President Hendricks, in the United States; President Barrios, of Guatemala; Prince Frederick Charles, of Germany; King Alfonso and Marshal Serrano, of Spain, and Prince Frederick, brother of King Christian, of Denmark—and lots of countries to be heard from.

The New York Tribune's Washington special of December 20th says: Since the announcement in the Tribune a week ago of Collector Hedden's nomination having been sent to the Senate, a number of specific charges against him have been received by members of that body. These are of less importance, however, than those made against Surveyor Beatty. He is charged with direct violation of the civil service laws in the appointment of day inspectors as officers of the night watch without their having undergone an examination, as required by the civil service regulations. His office is said to have been the daily rendezvous of "999" Thomson, John Keenan and other notorious Democratic politicians. He is charged with having detailed men to collect campaign subscriptions in the recent canvass and with having conspired to defeat the Civil Service law and with having done various other acts that prove him to be an unfit man to fill his present office.

A Washington dispatch says it is not believed that the President will make any more new appointments until after the holidays, certainly not on the Pacific Coast. The statement as to Judge Bradford being appointed Register of the Land Office at San Francisco is now regarded as premature, and possibly some one else may be selected. The only three principal offices in San Francisco yet unfilled are the Postmaster, Marshal and District Attorney. Representative Henley says if Greathouse is not appointed Postmaster, the office will be given to some entirely new man, though he thinks Greathouse will get the position. For Marshal, Wolfskill has perhaps the strongest backing. For District Attorney the three leading candidates are Glascock, backed by Judge Field, Dennis Spencer, endorsed by many prominent Democratic leaders in the State, and Charles Swift, who has good Democratic support. The indications point to Spencer's success.

The fact that the President has not yet sent to the Senate Tinnin's appointment as Surveyor of the port at San Francisco, excites some surprise. Other California nominations, made since Tinnin's, have gone to the Senate, and the name of Tucker who was appointed at the same time as Tinnin, has gone to the Senate. Also the name of the Postmaster at Merced, who was appointed since Tinnin. The Senate has not yet acted on any appointments. The delay is exciting acrimony among the Democrats, who are now charging that the Republican majority in that body intend to take a partisan view of the appointments made by the President.

The Commissioner of Pensions has rendered a decision upon the application for a pension of an ex-veteran who deserted after re-enlistment and never rejoined his command. The Commissioner holds that his discharge from his first enlistment contract perfected his rights thereunder, which were not forfeited by his failure to comply with the terms of a subsequent contract.

Dispatches state that a terrible dynamite explosion occurred in the Pleyuchin mine in Siberia. The accounts are conflicting as regards the number of persons killed, some placing the number at 400 while others place it as high as 1,000.

At a large meeting of the Cigar Maker's Union, held at Chicago Monday night, a large number of workmen decided to go to San Francisco. It is now estimated that 300, from all points, will go on a special train, which leaves New York December 26th.

Bills have been introduced in Congress to erect public buildings at San Francisco and Los Angeles, and to repeal the timber culture and desert land acts.

Reuben A. Hill, Indian Agent at the Blackfeet agency in Montana has resigned.

GRANT AND STANFORD.

A Sated Meeting Which was Purely of a Social Nature.

Senator Stanford was seen by a correspondent in regard to the story telegraphed from San Francisco to the New York Herald, about an arrangement between himself and General Grant, whereby Senator Stanford should be the Presidential candidate of the Republican party in the last campaign. Senator Stanford said that the story, probably, arose from the fact that one day, while he was living in New York, he met General Grant coming out of the driving park, just as he was driving in. General Grant drove back and had his horse put under the shed again, and the two took seats on the piazza, and a long conversation followed. Some gentleman who was near by and saw General Grant turn back, said that the General would not have done that for any other man in the United States. "We were always warm friends," said Senator Stanford, "and yesterday I received a copy of the General's book, with a note from Colonel Fred Grant, stating that it was the General's wish that the book be sent to me. Of course I appreciate the courtesy very highly. During our conversation on that piazza the possibility of my being a presidential candidate was not alluded to nor was that subject ever mentioned to me by General Grant either orally or in correspondence, while I was in Europe. In fact, General Grant never spoke or wrote to me on that subject.

THE HALF DAY SYSTEM.

The Carson Free Lance says:

In many cities of the Union the half day system is in operation. By almost all educators it is regarded with favor. Three hours per day for a child, six years of age, is deemed sufficient. If children commence school at six years of age, for at least the first year they should not be allowed to be in school more than three hours per day. If it cannot be otherwise prevented there should be a law on the Statute-books to that effect. For the untrained muscles and weak limbs of any child of but six years, three hours of strained attention and study are enough at a time. In the German school system a long tedious day of six hours in the school room for six-year-old children is unheard of. There the custom would be considered criminal. For years the half day system has been tried in the public schools of Oakland, and is endorsed by nearly every educator of California. A few years ago it was tried in Storey county, both in Gold Hill and Virginia. As one teacher taught both the morning and the afternoon classes he could teach twice the number of pupils usually allotted to a teacher. In this way Storey county dispensed with the services of five teachers, thereby saving the county fully $5,000 per annum. Should the half day system be adopted in Carson, Reno, Austin, Eureka and other towns in Nevada, there would be an annual saving to the school fund of about $15,000, and we believe without any loss whatever to the efficiency of the schools. In Alabama, New Mexico and Wyoming children do not enter school at all until seven years of age, in Texas not until eight years of age. If children enter school at all before the age of seven it should be the nursery or kindergarten, or their hours in the school room should be no more than three each day.

THE STATE'S FINANCE.

In corroboration of what has so often been stated in the JOURNAL, we excerpt the annexed from the Carson Free Lance:

The finances of the State are in satisfactory condition. When Nevada was admitted to the Union the Territorial debt was $380,000. This amount the State still owes to the State School Fund. In addition to that the State also owes the same fund, $140,000. At the close of the present fiscal year there will be in the Treasury available for the redemption of these bonds the sum of $25,000 and will leave a balance of $115,000 with which to run the State during the year to come. At the close of 1884 the indebtedness of the State in addition to the $380,000 school bond was $147,000. In January, 1885, bonds to the amount of $27,000 were redeemed leaving a balance of $120,000. This was the amount owed on these bonds until last month, when $20,000 more were borrowed, bringing it up to $140,000. It will be seen by this that the actual receipts of our State Government are greater than the expenditures. Nevada will start off the New Year with a reduction of about $25,000 in the State debt, and with enough coin on hand to go through the year without borrowing any more. After that, however, will come a legislative year, and another increase in the debt.

CALIFORNIA'S GOLD PRODUCT.

The State Mineralogist Reports on the Great Decrease.

In his fifth annual report, recently issued, State Mineralogist H. G. Hanks of California, calls attention to the great falling off in the annual gold product, which declined last year to $13,000,000. Speaking of this, and of its effect on trade and the condition of the laboring classes, he says:

It is true that when gold is practically retired from trade and commerce, prices will regulate themselves, and the artisan, or common laborer, will be able to do better with the smaller sums he receives as wages; but low wages and low prices are always an index to a correspondingly low state of prosperity. It is my opinion that the present uneasy feeling among the working classes, and fall of prices generally, which is causing so much distress among the merchants and manufacturers, as well as the laborers, is due directly or indirectly to the diminishing production of gold.

Unless some new and productive gold field is discovered the value of gold will continue to increase, and the reaction already commenced, with its train of evils, will continue until the old condition of low prices, poorly paid labor and general stagnation returns.

The two important questions, an increased production of gold and the impartial distribution of the surplus waters of the rivers of the State for irrigation purposes, should engage the attention of our legislators until an equitable adjustment is effected.

Teachers' Salaries Reduced.

The Carson Free Lance says:

On Friday last the public schools of Carson closed for the term. There will be two weeks vacation for which time the teachers will not, as heretofore, draw salary. As it is our teachers are slimly paid, and this narrow policy may be demanded in the interest of economy, but we think not. The vacation was given in the interest of the pupils, not the teachers. In this interim the teachers must pay room rent and board bills, incur the other usual expenses and hold themselves in readiness to report at the ringing of the school bell on January 4th. Just as it should be Principal Howe draws his salary for 12 months, as it is with all the teachers of San Francisco. But our teachers who are thus deprived of two weeks' salary all happen to be of the weaker sex, hence dependent upon the mercies of a board of three stalwart BUSINESS men. Of course if the teachers don't like it they can quit. There are in Carson plenty of schoolgirls in short dresses who stand ready to take the places of our experienced teachers and even at prices still further reduced. The maxim in Carson school affairs is not "the survival of the fittest," but rather "the survival of the cheapest."

School Indemnity Selections.

An important case was argued in the General Land Office Saturday that of pre-emptors vs. school indemnity selections in California. Mr. Newman argued in behalf of the citizens, and presented a strong case. These indemnity selections have been the cause of much dispute, and the rulings of the Land Office under the present administration have been subject to no little criticism. In nearly every case where no appeal has been taken to the Secretary the Commissioner's decision has been overruled. It is probable that the present case will go to the Secretary after it is finished in the Land Office.

A Washington dispatch says Republican Senators are daily receiving hundreds of letters, making complaints against men who have been appointed by the President. It is a curious fact that a majority of the documents come from Democrats. Senator Harrison has several hundred received from Indiana Democrats, protesting against men who have been placed in office through the influence of Voorhees. There is no doubt in Senator Harrison's mind that in many cases the President has been seriously imposed upon. As the Senate acted hastily last Spring in confirming certain appointments, it is proposed now to take plenty of time to consider the appointments made during recess. Unquestionably many unfit ones will be rejected. First Assistant Postmaster-General Stevenson, who has been active in degrading the Postoffice Department to partisan uses, is in danger of being rejected.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. The beautiful display of fine wares and other holiday goods at Brookins' is a constant attraction to the ladies.
The primary department exercises, under Misses Michelson and McNealey, will be held to-morrow afternoon. Parents and friends are invited.
At the close of last week Senator Jones surrendered his contract to the Consolidated California & Virginia Company, and all the ore hereafter extracted will be on its own account.
There will be high mass in the Catholic Church Christmas night. The choir are making good preparations. Mass will commence at 11:30 p. m. on Thursday night. A general invitation is extended.
An effort has been made to secure Professor T. O. Crawford, Superintendent of industrial education in the public schools of Oakland, to deliver the latter part of this week three lectures, one in Virginia City, one in Reno and one in Carson. The subject to be industrial education in the public schools. He writes that it will be impossible for him to come earlier than March next but has accepted the invitation for that time. He will come under the auspices of the Nevada State Teachers' Institute.
Governor Adams is still in San Francisco, and is not expected home for some days. Since leaving Carson the Governor has been quite ill. For several years past his frequent attacks have been attributed to indigestion, but his California physicians made a different diagnosis of the case, and the patient has passed a large number of gall stones. The doctor hopes to restore him to health in a short time, and the Governor says he thinks he will be as good as now.
Good News for Candelaria.
The Candelaria True Fissure, of last Saturday, says: Superintendent Cross gave orders Wednesday for the cleaning up and preparing for active operation of the second mill belonging to the Holmes Company, at Belleville. This means the employment of more men in the mines and the resumption of something like our old-time activity. No one desires to get up a boom here and have a great crowd of idle men rushing to the camp, but the fact cannot be kept quiet that Candelaria never looked as permanent as it does to-day. The Holmes is increasing in richness and extent every week, then Diablo has been prospecting and opening up a large extent of new country and all the chloriders are doing well.

The Carson Free Lance says: "Warden Bell has in contemplation the removal of one large stone from the wall in front of the Prison. This would add much to the appearance of the premises. At present the wall is just high enough to shut the prison out of the view of persons passing along the road, and is of no use so far as preventing the escape of the prisoners, since it may be easily scaled by a child ten years old. A stone wall is also to be run along the east side of the prison grounds, beginning at the northeast corner on the front and connecting with the wall which now comes part way down the hill. During the past few months a great deal of work has been done by the Warden in putting in stone sewers and improving the premises generally."

A Deserving Institution.

The Candelaria True Fissure says: Possessed of the opinion that Nevada could and would support an institution of learning for girls, Bishop Whitaker, after years of struggle against adverse circumstances, has succeeded in establishing his School for Girls, at Reno, on a firm and sure footing. No more competent or popular teachers can be found anywhere, and the people of this State owe it to themselves and to the Bishop to see that not a single girl is sent out of the State to be educated while there is room for one more at the Reno School for Girls.

Back for Reno.

The Carson Free Lance says: Some men excuse themselves from attending public meetings for the consideration of matters interesting the community at large by saying that they prefer to spend the evening with their families at their own hearthstones. This is all very well so far as it goes. Domestic habits on the part of the mercer-line population are commendable in the highest degree, but if all should follow this plan, it would not be long before there would be very few hearthstones in the village. In this age of competition and push, communities as well as individuals must rustle, or be left behind in the great race of life. Look at Reno.

Good Mine.

The Eagle mine at Lewis, Lander county, under the management of Hon. E. T. George, is looking well, and now has about 200 tons of very high grade ore on the dump. The work of prospecting and extracting ore is being vigorously prosecuted, and it is said that the company will start up their forty-stamp mill some time next month.

Fifty-Eight.

Superintendent Gus Williams, of the State Orphans' Home, says he has fifty-eight children under his fatherly care. They eat three square meals per day, and are all fat, well clothed and contented.

The Governorship of Alaska.

Over the name of A. P. Swineford, of Marquette, Mich., which was sent to the Senate last week for Governor of Alaska, a bitter fight has already begun. He was a Commissioner from the State of Michigan last Winter to the New Orleans Exposition. After a few months' service he was called away by urgent private business, and left his assistant in charge. His assistant charges that Swineford drew pay from the State Treasury and withheld the salary due him. He has filed with the Senate Committee on Territories charges of embezzlement against Governor Swineford, claiming the amount of money so withheld to be in the neighborhood of $1,200. Governor Swineford is at Sitka, where he arrived September 16th, and he is not aware of the charges against him.

The Confirmation of Hager and Tinnin.

WASHINGTON, December 20th.—Representative Henley does not think the opposition to either Collector Hager or Surveyor Tinnin, of San Francisco will be effective but that both will be confirmed. He says both are men of high character, and any opposition must be on personal grounds. It is understood that in the case of Tinnin the opposition is on the ground that he lives 300 miles from San Francisco, is not the man for the office to which he has been appointed, and, besides, in his political associations he affiliates with the Socialistic and communistic elements.

MAKING MEN TALLER.

How two Would-be Policemen Stretched Themselves.

Brooklyn Union.

Three sergeants sat in the Washington-street Police Station one night last week talking to Charity Commissioner Reeve, when the subject of the deceptiveness of a man's appearance was brought up, one of the sergeants telling a story of an ex-roundman whose seeming immense proportions had frequently been the subject of jest among his fellow policemen. Some time since he was promoted to a sergeant, and before having a new uniform made tried on a coat of a sergeant who was believed to measure not more than three-fourths as much as the ex-roundman. To the surprise of those present the coat fitted as though made for him.

"That goes to show," said the sergeant who told the story, "that you can't always tell a man's size when he has his clothes on. Why, there is Sergeant ———. He looks like a man of not more than medium build, but his limbs and chest are extraordinarily well developed, and he weighs more and is of bigger proportion than several other men I know whose uniforms make them seem as big again as he is."

"Talking about him," said Commissioner Reeve, "reminds me of how I got him on the force by stretching him in length three-quarters of an inch. That sounds queer, but it is a fact nevertheless. It was in the time of the Metropolitan Police, and he wanted to get on. He went through all right until he came to height, and he fell below the standard three-quarters of an inch. I felt very much downcast about it, for he was a friend of mine, and I was very anxious that he should get on the force. A physician with whom I was acquainted happened to be there at the time, and he asked me if I was interested in the man who had failed to reach the height standard. I told him I was."

"That's all right," said he. "I'll tell you how to fix that."

"Of course I didn't believe it could be done, except by trickery, but I thought I would listen to what he had to say, anyway. He told me to get an order for remeasurement, which I did with assistance, the applicant for the position to be measured again the following day. 'Now,' said he, when we had got the order, 'you take your man to some hotel near here, give him a warm bath and put him to bed. Make him stay in bed until tomorrow morning about an hour before the time for him to be measured again, and tell him to sleep all the time if he can. If he does this he will be three-quarters of an inch taller, and come up to the standard.'"

"I didn't know what to think about the suggestion. My medical friend was not given to joking, but I thought he had begun. However, I was anxious that my man should get on the force, and was willing to try anything. I told him what the physician had said, and he agreed to do it. The next morning he appeared, and when he was measured he not only came up to the standard but was a little above it. We were both as much surprised as gratified, and when I spoke to the doctor about it he said 'Well, I told you so.' Then I was curious to know how it was that such a thing could be done, and asked him. He explained that every one of the numerous joints in the human frame was supplied with a natural oil. When a man has walked a good deal or gone through much exertion of any kind in a day the oil is used up and the joints come close together. The difference this would make if there was but a single joint would be very little, but when there are so many it reduces the height in some cases as much as an inch at the end of a day's work. Let a man take a warm bath and long restful sleep, the joints will be re-supplied with oil and the consequence is, he will be taller. You may not believe this, but it is a fact."

"I believe it," said one of the listening sergeants, "because I did the same thing myself. I was three-eighths of an inch below the standard, and I heard of the plan you tell of. I went to a hotel in New York, took the bath and slept twelve hours. Then I got an order for remeasurement, claiming that I did not have a fair show the first time. To my surprise I just came up to the standard, being three-eighths of an inch taller than I was the day before. I got my appointment, and I'm on the force now."

Among the 13,314 couples who got married in Berlin last year were 561 widows, 529 divorced women and one man who had the courage to marry a woman who had been divorced three times. There were 95 marriages of cousins, 4 of uncle and niece, 2 of nephew and aunt. One man of 25 married a woman of 60 and a man of 75 a girl of 25. In 53 cases the man was from 15 to 50 years younger than the bride, in 9 cases 20 to 25 years younger and one case 30 years younger. March, April and May, September, October and November were the months in which the greatest number of marriages took place.
